

Welcome to the 2025 Cultural Resource Protection Summit! Reflections

On behalf of our host, The Suquamish Tribe, and the entire twelve-member Agenda Planning Committee, Eppard Vision welcomes you to the 2025 Cultural Resource Protection Summit! This marks the 18th annual and 4th hybrid Summit, and we sincerely thank you for participating. We are so glad you're here!

Our mission: Since its inception, Eppard Vision's primary goal in organizing the annual Summit has been to facilitate amongst all affected parties an open, frank discussion about the intersection between cultural resources and land use. The Summit is designed to promote collaborative cultural resource planning as an effective means of finding resolution to issues before they escalate into emotionally-charged, divisive, and expensive stalemates or lawsuits.

With deep gratitude, we dedicate the 18th Annual Summit to the late Dennis Lewarch, former Suquamish THPO and Summit Emcee, who passed in December 2024:

We remember and extend our sincere thanks to the late Dennis Lewarch, former Suquamish THPO, for his friendship, scholarship, leadership, and dedication to the Summit, including 16 years as our Emcee. At his retirement in 2023, the Suquamish Tribe gave Dennis the Lushootseed name tubšədə??ə ti syəcəb, which means "A Warrior of True Information." Thank you, Dennis. You will be in our hearts forever.

This year, the Summit agenda includes an engaging array of cutting-edge topics that will encourage attendees to reflect on our practice as we continue seeking innovative solutions for today's most pressing challenges to effective cultural resource protection, thereby raising the bar on our practice. Panel discussions, lightning talks, and a new slate of Cohort Activities will highlight useful examples of the links between CRM and responsible land use. We will also reserve time for great food and general socializing as we reflect on and advance our work. We sincerely hope you benefit from Summiting!

We will also continue to examine several questions central to our practice: What are cultural resources, and why should people care? Who are our fellow cultural resource advocates, and how do we establish functional, productive relationships? Whose responsibility is it to protect cultural resources; how do we ensure that we all do our part?

We are pleased to offer another hybrid Summit experience with both in-person and virtual options for participating. We truly hope you enjoy learning and socializing in both spaces!

Finally, we gratefully acknowledge our very generous sponsors – a record 43 as we go to print! – for their stalwart support of the Summit. We deeply appreciate their assistance and trust. Please offer them your thanks this week!

Again, we welcome you and thank you for taking this journey with us. Please let us know if there is anything we can do to make the next two days more productive and enjoyable.

~The Leadership Series Core Planning Committee~ Mary Rossi and Steve Kinley

Tuesday, May 20, 2025 3:00 - 5:00 PM Optional In-Person Social Gathering

We have had a lot of fun (and cupcakes!) at our new opening socials, and we are excited to WELCOME YOU to the Summit and Suquamish in a similar manner!

Join us at the Suquamish Tribe's House of Awakened Culture the afternoon before the Summit officially opens for an informal social gathering. Pick up your Summit materials, enjoy some light refreshments (gourmet cupcakes from Sweet Life Cakery in nearby Kingston!), and soak up the incomparable beauty of the House and Salish Sea with your friends and peers. Come get a jump-start on your Summit fun!

Day 1 – Wednesday, May 21, 2025

8:15 - 8:45 AM Pacific – In-Person Check In & Expanded Continental Breakfast

8:30 - 8:45 AM Pacific - Virtual Login & Tech Check Zoom links: provided to Summit registrants only

NOTE: Should tech limitations prevent us from bringing you "live" to the Summit as is our intention, we will provide registrants with access to all session recordings shortly after the event wraps and the necessary post-production is complete. Thank you for your understanding of the potential challenges of a hybrid Summit!

9:15 - 10:00 AM Pacific - KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Finding the Children Missing from the Roll Call: Archaeology and Residential Schools

The Missing Children Project was an initiative of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) that studied the Residential School System operated by the Government of Canada and the Roman Catholic Church, the Church of England, and several other denominations during the 19th and 20th centuries. Among the Calls to Action the TRC issued was to investigate child deaths at these schools and to repatriate their remains if the family or community made that request. Our research partnership with the Sioux Valley Dakota Nation began in 2019 with the goal of investigating an abandoned cemetery associated with the Brandon Indian Residential School using archaeological methods. Our project included a plan to excavate within the cemetery and exhume any human remains we found. However, our field work was interrupted by the COVID pandemic. Since were unable to proceed with our original goal, we did a pivot to emphasizing archival and oral history research. In this presentation, I will discuss our results to date and comment on the work that remains.

Keynote Speaker: Eldon Yellowhorn (Piikani Nation), Professor of Indigenous Studies, Simon Fraser University (British Columbia)

Speaker Introduction: Laura Murphy, Muckleshoot Indian Tribe

Chat Box Monitor: Ayla Aymond, WA State Parks & Summit Agenda Planning Comm.

Session #1 (10:15 - 11:00 AM Pacific)

Lifting Up Tribal Engagement in City Government [City of Seattle]

Incorporating Tribal engagement more systematically across a number of city departments with varying missions, project types, and geographic scopes is a challenge that can seem insurmountable. This session will identify the challenges, prompt a problem-solving and interactive discussion with the audience (both in-person and virtual), and explore potential solutions to incorporate Tribal engagement that is meaningful, effective, and spans topics that reach beyond cultural resources compliance. Speakers include Tribal representatives who coordinate on City of Seattle projects and employees of City of Seattle departments responsible for cultural resources compliance and tribal consultation and coordination.

Moderator: Heather Walker-Taylor, Seattle Public Utilities

Panelists: Laura Murphy, Muckleshoot Indian Tribe

Scott Schuyler, Upper Skagit Indian Tribe Jeremy Beliveau, Office of Arts & Culture Kyle Iron Lightning, Seattle Public Utilities

Andrea Weiser, Seattle City Light

11:15 AM - 12:00 PM Pacific - Private Guided Tour of the Suquamish Museum Thunderbird & Bear Cohorts only during this tour

Many have asked, and the Summit team is answering! We are honored to partner with the Suquamish Museum to offer Summit registrants a private guided tour of the Museum. Our guide can accommodate a maximum of 30 guests per tour, so two Summit Cohorts will tour at a time. Tours will last 45 minutes.

Please plan to arrive at the Museum by the listed start time of your tour. You are invited to walk or drive across the street and up the hill approximately a third of a mile to the Museum. Please let your Cohort Facilitator know if you require assistance.

*Note: The first tour is for Thunderbird and Bear Cohorts only. Find additional tour times and Cohort assignments below (Day 1 at 1:15pm and 2:15pm and Day 2 at 11am, 1:15pm, and 2:00pm). Thank you for respecting the Museum's tour parameters.

11:15 - 11:45 AM Pacific

Summit Cohorts - Meet & Greet and Introduce NEW Self-Selecting Activities!

First introduced at the 2022 Satellite Summit, Summit Cohorts are intended to be a fun way to get to know your fellow Summiters and engage in meaningful discussions and activities. While seemingly similar to Small Groups, they are even better!

The Summit Agenda Planning Committee and our Cohorts & Community Committee have worked hard and thoughtfully to design this year's Cohort experience, complete with group activities and a new slate of exciting self-selecting activities! Adding another thrilling element, those who complete the "Passport" printed on the back side of their name badge will be entered in a drawing for a FREE Summit registration!

Even if you have an aversion to small groups, the Summit Cohorts promise to be fun and educational. We encourage you to join in the Cohort fun!

Cohort Leads: Ayla Aymond, WA State Parks & Summit Agenda Planning Committee Micca Metz, ESA & Summit Agenda Planning Committee

In-Person Cohort Facilitators (12):

Bear – Sarah Steinkraus, WA State Recreation & Conservation Office (RCO)
Butterfly – Sarah Thirtyacre, WA State Dept. of Transportation (WSDOT)

11:45 AM - 12:00 PM Pacific - Thanking Our Teachers...Still, Always

Our professional community, including the Summit Family, is witnessing a number of prominent retirements and passings. At the 2023 Summit, we began to acknowledge and thank all the Teachers who have helped us on our path to raising the bar on our practice and more effectively protecting cultural resources. It is fitting for us to continue to do so. At this time, we will honor our friend, teacher, and former Suquamish THPO and Summit MC, the late Dennis Lewarch. Our MCs will start us off as we reflect on Dennis's impact by sharing stories and thanking all our influential Teachers.

Assistant MC (afternoon): Bob Kopperl, Willamette CRA

12:00 - 1:15 PM Pacific – Lunch at the House & Virtual Lunch Break

We are thrilled to welcome back Seattle-based food truck Off the Rez as they cater another delicious lunch of award-winning Indian tacos and salad! Sample their versions of a modern-day reservation favorite, including frybread based on recipes from the Blackfeet Indian Reservation (Montana). Dietary restrictions will be accommodated; please let the crew know what you need (or don't need). This year, we'll load up our plates via a buffet line rather than at the taco truck. Enjoy!!

12:45 - 1:15 PM (while you eat)

We are honored to be joined by Barbara Lawrence, Suquamish Elder and storyteller, who will share with us from approximately 12:45 - 1:15pm. Please enjoy your lunch while listening with open ears and hearts.

*Virtual Summiters: We will host a Virtual Lunch Break with group socializing followed by a story from Barbara Lawrence, Suquamish Elder. Bring your lunch and have fun!

12:15 - 12:45 PM Group socializing (main Zoom Room)
12:45 - 1:15 PM Story by Barbara Lawrence, Suguamish Elder

12:45 - 1:15 PM Story by Barbara Lawrence, Suquamish Elder (live from the House)

Hosted by: Taylor Harriman, Suquamish Tribe

1:15 - 2:00 PM Pacific – Private Guided Tour of the Suquamish Museum Hummingbird & Wolf Cohorts only during this tour

Please see the tour description above for more information (Day 1 at 11:15am).

1:15 - 1:45 PM Pacific – Lightning Talks (Round One)

Join us for a Summit favorite as some of the Summit's most courageous speakers take on the challenge of presenting a fascinating cultural resource topic of their choice via a total of 20 slides, each one shown for a mere 20 seconds! Enjoy this format? You are in luck! A second Lightning Round will be held tomorrow from 1:15-1:45pm.

Community Conversations: Addressing Historical Monuments through Public Dialogue

In 2020, the Washington State Historical Society began work to identify and begin to address over 40 monuments we put up in the early 20th century. Along with Tribal consultation, the museum is hosting community dialogue session to discuss the issues these monuments present and how we can better represent a more complete, holistic history of these sites. This Lightning Talk will discuss the community dialogue format, facilitation, and lessons learned so far.

Session #3 (3:00 - 3:45 PM Pacific)
Integrating Standards and Technology into Tribal Archaeology
Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde

The archaeological record within the state of Oregon is both fascinating and problematic. The state has some of the oldest archaeological sites on this side of the planet but seems to have no central database from which to develop regional syntheses or even reasonable cultural contexts to compare archaeological findings. When conducting archaeological work, one will find that not only are there no standards in ecological contextual recording but there are also few standard typologies, and each federal or state agency (not to mention the many private archaeological firms) has slightly different recording standards or ways of describing archaeological data. Unfortunately, this situation removes from the archaeological record all those who are poorly attested in written history, such as tribes, working people, women, or immigrant communities to name a few. To see the presence of those attested primarily through archaeology, data systemization is needed.

To provide a solution to this situation, and to establish best-management-practices and procedures for meeting its obligations, the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde's Historic Preservation Office developed what it terms the "CTGR Toolkit," which incorporates established data standards within a digital database housed within the ArcGIS environment. In addition to this toolkit, the program has made use of photogrammetry and LiDAR data in a process of "digital twinning," as these methods help to address some difficulties where more traditional archaeological techniques are not up to the challenge, particularly when it comes to a more tribal perspective of archaeology.

Panelists: Briece Edwards, Historic Preservation Office Manager

4:00 - 4:30 PM Pacific - 5th Annual Summit Book Club!

4:30 - 5:00 PM Pacific - Option to continue discussion during Cohort Activities

The Serviceberry: Abundance and Reciprocity in the Natural World by Robin Wall Kimmerer (Citizen Potawatomi Nation)

*Note: Although reading the book in advance is encouraged, it is not a requirement for participating in this session. Please join us no matter your reading/listening status!

Please join us for the 5th Annual Summit Book Club! Once again, we hope that the collective reading experience will set the tone for this year's Summit and allow opportunities for Summit attendees to engage intellectually and socially while we explore the larger themes of the Summit, including that of Reflections.

Our 2025 book selection is The Serviceberry: Abundance and Reciprocity in the Natural World by Robin Wall Kimmerer (Citizen Potawatomi Nation). This book builds on topics from previous Summits and Book Club selections, including Braiding Sweetgrass: Indigenous Wisdom, Scientific Knowledge, and the Teachings of Plants, our very popular inaugural selection by the same author.

The Serviceberry picks up where Braiding Sweetgrass left off and expands on the author's idea of a gift economy over the course of a short, yet profound and uplifting read. From the publisher:

As Indigenous scientist Robin Wall Kimmerer [author of Braiding Sweetgrass] harvests serviceberries alongside the birds, she considers the ethic of reciprocity that lies at the heart of the gift economy. How, she asks, can we learn from Indigenous wisdom and the plant world to reimagine what we value most? Our economy is rooted in scarcity, competition, and the hoarding of resources, and we have surrendered our values to a system that actively harms what we love. Meanwhile, the serviceberry's relationship with the natural world is an embodiment of reciprocity, interconnectedness, and gratitude. The tree distributes its wealth—its abundance of sweet, juicy berries—to meet the needs of its natural community. And this distribution ensures its own survival.

Join this year's Book Club for an exploration of what it means to step away from capitalism and greed and imagine another way of relating to one another based on kindness, generosity, and interconnected communities.

We will discuss the book in a plenary setting, and you will have the option to continue discussions for the full hour. This year, we will invite readers to share a favorite passage and solicit input about how Reciprocity might be realized in our own lives.

Accessing the book: In addition to checking out a physical book from your local library or purchasing a copy from your favorite bookseller, it is also available on many of your favorite platforms as an eBook and as an audio book.

4:30 - 5:00 PM Pacific - NEW Self-Selecting Cohort Activities!

While those wishing to continue Book Club discussion during this time may do so, this will also be your first opportunity to self-select from our new slate of exciting Cohort Activities! Try one, try a few, try them all over the next two days. Have fun!

*Remember: those who complete the "Passport" printed on the back side of their name badge will be entered in a drawing for a FREE Summit registration.

Slate of NEW Self-Selecting Cohort Activities:

- Activity Book (coloring and word finds by Suquamish elders)
- Plants/Seeds (a complete kit for planting your own native strawberries)
- Advocacy/Gratitude Resources (tips for acting on issues that matter)
- Game Time (join your fellow Summiters for a round of CRM Jenga)

Chat Box Monitor: Summit Tech Team (Main Zoom Room)

6:00 - 8:00 PM - Welcoming Reception at Suquamish Clearwater Casino Resort

Location: Resort Lobby Bar (enter at the Welcome Figures)

*Note: Please refrain from consuming alcoholic beverages at the Reception until after Suquamish Song & Dance (invited) has shared with us. We appreciate all Summiters honoring this request. If necessary, individuals will be directed to consume their beverage elsewhere.

After a day of reflections, it's time to relax and take time to enjoy being together! Enjoy your free drink ticket (see an Agenda Planning Committee member for your ticket), delicious appetizers, and one of the loveliest views on the Salish Sea. Savor the opportunity to visit with friends, old and new, and tell your latest tall tale about cultural resource protection. You are welcome to socialize on the outside Terrace and in the Kitsap Hall, which is just down the hall from the Lobby. We will also have the opportunity to enjoy what has become a very special part of the Reception (anticipated):

Suguamish Song & Dance Group (invited)

Please join the Suquamish Song & Dance Group for a very special opportunity to learn more about Suquamish stories, past and present, and to reflect on why we strive to protect cultural resources in the first place. As we listen to the songs, imagine how they might serve as reflections of your practice and your life.

For our virtual attendees, while we will not be Zooming during the Reception, we invite you to take a moment to enjoy a very special video that the Suquamish Song & Dance Group produced for the 2020 Summit (the first of two virtual Summits). You can find the link to the video on the Virtual Summit Website under the Videos tab. Enjoy the recorded teachings, and know that we wish you could be with us at Suquamish!

Schedule of Events ~ Welcoming Reception

6:00pm – Suquamish Song and Dance Group (invited) on the Event Lawn, weather permitting (rain location is the Billy Frank Jr. Hall – down the hallway to the right of the Front Desk)

6:30pm – Food and Beverage service begins

7:45pm - Last Call at the Lobby Bar

8:00pm – Reception ends

Day 2 - Thursday, May 22, 2025

8:30 - 9:00 AM Pacific - In-Person Check In & Commemorative Breakfast

Breakfast this morning will include a special "Dennis Lewarch Grape-Nuts Parfait." Many thanks to Miranda at Ambrosia Catering for helping us remember Dennis in this unique, delicious way. Dennis enjoyed Grape-Nuts, and we hope you enjoy this tribute!

8:45 - 9:00 AM Pacific - Virtual Login & Tech Check

Zoom links: provided to Summit registrants only

NOTE: Should tech limitations prevent us from bringing you "live" to the Summit as is our intention, we will provide registrants with access to all session recordings shortly after the event wraps and the necessary post-production is complete. Thank you for your understanding of the potential challenges of a hybrid Summit!

If you are Summiting virtually for the first time or if you just need a reminder, please see the 8:30am session description for Day 1 (above) for some important tech guidance and resources. Please contact the Summit IT Team if you have any problems; we're here to help!

Session #4 (9:15 - 10:00 AM Pacific)

Ethnographically Informed Cultural Resource Surveys: A Holistic Approach

An Interagency Agreement between DAHP and CWU to provide pedestrian survey inventory of cultural resources for citing energy projects called for explicit and overt efforts to work with Tribes. A major theme stemming from Tribal input was the importance of focusing on connections between traditionally defined cultural resources, like archaeological sites and isolates, and other cultural resources in the surrounding landscape, such as plant communities and natural features, that hold cultural importance to Tribal groups. We have labeled our approach ethnographically informed as we use ethnographic information from the literature and from tribal community through informed tribal program staff to provide context for what gets recorded in the field. In that way, we have adopted and modified the National Park Services cultural landscape approach to recording archaeology.

Applying the cultural landscape approach has resulted in a more comprehensive picture of the potential culturally significant resources that are present in survey areas. This process also allowed us to identify possible relationships between these resources and archaeological sites. However, this approach is not without challenges. In this session we make three short presentations with commentary from our tribal partners. Data gaps are apparent in our approach and significant problems have arisen. For instance, how can we integrate tribal experts into our surveys so that Traditional Cultural Practices/Properties are identified and preserved for future use? We end with a list of questions for breakout sessions that follow our presentation so that solutions, additional challenges, and alternatives can be discussed by the Summit cohorts.

Culturally Modified Trees: Braiding Methods With On-Going Lessons in Coast Salish Country

This talk invites others to the CMT body of research to share methodological approaches and point to the critical need for community-focused CMT research. Communities play a crucial role in defining culturally modified trees. As cultural resource specialists, it is our responsibility to listen actively to these communities to support and advocate for the preservation of the landscape features and the stories that hold significant meaning. Collaboration with community stewards is essential in safeguarding these figures on the landscape while ensuring that their values are appropriately integrated into documentation strategies. My goal is that audience members will leave with a heightened sense of awareness for these resources within and adjacent to project areas and that CMT studies are for everyone!

What'd We Learn? What's Next? When's the Ferry? Where's the Big Red "End Meeting" Button?

In celebration of an 18th Annual Summit well attended, join in a final moderated discussion, including summary comments from our eloquent Discussant, to review what we've learned from one another (reflections!) and look towards a more productive, hopeful future.

Thank your hosts and sponsors (and your teachers once more), bid farewell to one another until October or next year, and please complete your Evaluation form (included in your onsite registration packet and posted online on both Summit websites). We truly value your input which is especially important as we work hard to offer "hybrid" Summits and Satellite Summits going forward.

Thank you, again, for taking this journey with us! Stay safe and healthy, and we'll see you in a few months at the 5th Annual Satellite Summit hosted by Willamette Cultural Resources Associates on October 8 at the University of Washington-Tacoma and/or at the 19th Annual Summit hosted next May 20-21 by the Suquamish Tribe, hybrid format anticipated for both! Safe travels to all!

Moderators: All our Summit MCs (Thank You, Laura, Ayla, Micca, and Bob!)

Discussant: Heather Walker-Taylor, Seattle Public Utilities

Chat Box Monitor: Jennifer Horwitz, Whatcom Dispute Resolution Center & Summit Agenda Planning Committee
